Having been appointed agent for the above Company, I respectfully call the attention of the citizens of this section of North Carolina, to the fact that this is a Southern Company with an authorized Capital of $500,000. It's business is ably conducted, by influential, reliable and wealthy citizens of Tennessee.

It has the finest references, and has always been exceedingly prompt in its payments, as can be shown by its records, being sustained by wealthy gentlemen.

It takes both Life and Fire risks on terms as low as any Eastern Company.

This Company is just being introduced into its sister State and I hope it will be well patronized.

INFALLIBLE YEAST POWDERS.

Scientific men, who thoroughly understand the subject, concur with great unanimity in saying that nothing exerts such a deleterious influence against health as bad bread. The remedy is at hand in SIMPSON'S INFALLIBLE YEAST POWDERS, the value of which is thus certified:

RALEIGH, Aug. 24, 1866.

I have tested the Yeast Powders you manufacture and can recommend them as vastly superior to any other ever used by me. In addition to the lightness and sweetness of the bread, the powders are economical, as one-third the lard usually required will answer in the making of either loaf bread or biscuit. For pastries and cakes they are excellent.

VIRGINIA A. ORR.

The price of these powders per package is 25 cts. or 75 cts. per pound. To be had at Wm. Simpson's Confectionary Store, Fayetteville Street, Raleigh, N. C.

RALEIGH, Aug. 23, 1866.

This is to certify that I have used Mr. Simpson's Yeast Powders and find them to be superior to any I have ever used. After trying them once no housekeeper will be satisfied without them.

MRS. S. D. HARRISON.

RALEIGH, Aug. 23, 1866.

I have tried Mr. Wm. Simpson's Yeast Powders and find them very good. L. M. TUCKER.

Report of Committee on a Penitentiary.

The Joint Select Committee, to whom was referred that portion of the Message of his Excellency, the Governor, which relates to a Penitentiary, also a bill introduced by the Senator from Transylvania, having considered the same, have instructed me to report the accompanying bill, and recommend its passage. Regarding the subject of high public concernment at the present time, they have also instructed me to set forth, in as brief a manner as possible, some of the considerations which have influenced their action.

From the earliest dissemination of mankind over the surface of the earth, there have existed inequalities in his state. While some have been born to honor, some have also been born to dishonor. While some have abounded in worldly goods, and have been raised by their condition above want, and the miseries which flow from it, many more have been merely "hewers of wood and drawers of water," pinched by want, degraded by mental darkness, as well as moral obliquity. From their condition and their numbers, these last have ever formed the larger portion of those who break over the restrictions imposed by the social compact, and commit crime. Until within a recent period in the State for which we are here to legislate, these have been subject to restraint and punishment, for the most part, not by the law of the land, but under one of the great economical relations of life, by the master. Such is no longer the case. They are now turned loose upon society, ignorant, thriftless, indolent—the victims often of the more unscrupulous and designing of the white race. The consequence is inevitable and natural. From a community in which there was as strict obedience to law, and as profound regard for order as has existed in any age or nation, our State has become infested with crime, the majesty of the law is disregarded, the rights of property are trampled under foot, and in many portions of the State, the honest husbandman striving under the primeval curse to gain a livelihood for wife and children, does not know, when he lies down after the toils of the day, whether there will be food for either on the morrow. There is a saturnalia of lawlessness, and what was once called petty theft, but which, from its frequency and universality, is sapping the very foundations of our prosperity. This is known to be the condition of things in the State, and if it is to continue, it will ruin our people.

Our Court Houses are crowded with prisoners who go hence to eat the bread of idleness in the jails, or to the whipping post, to return soon again to the Court House, to go through the same round. The administrators of the law thus present the spectacle of being engaged in the miserable past-time of "dropping buckets into empty wells and growing old by drawing nothing up." It is even worse, for in the mean time a horse has been stolen, a house has been broken open, some helpless female, whose natural protector, it may be, sleeps in a sheetless grave by the Rappahannock or the Chickahominy, and whose sole protection is the strong arm of the law, has lost her last piece of meat or her last bushel of corn.

It is this state of things, to the minds of your Committee, which, in no small degree, causes the hearts of the great mass of the people to sink within them, and which is a fruitful source of the gloom and despondency which paralyze their energies. It is, by some, entirely attributed to the unsettled relations of the State to the Federal government. This, doubtless has its influence, but it is by no means the sole or the chief cause, with the great body of the people.

No, if there is despondency in the land; if the hand of industry is paralyzed; if the heart of the husbandman is faint, and he is no longer urged to force a superabundant subsistence from the accursed earth, it is because crime is rampant and there is no longer that protection to property, without which no community ever did, or ever will prosper. That some change is demanded by our altered condition in dealing with our criminals, we believe to be a profound conviction of the public mind, and the question, "what is to be done with them?" is one of pressing importance, and one which comes home to every citizen. It is a subject beset with difficulties—the same difficulties which the thickly populated countries of Europe have had to contend with for centuries, and which nothing but the vast unoccupied territories of the Union, have prevented the North from having to grapple with in sober earnest. Still, she has had her share of trouble in dealing with her criminals, and builds Sing Sings and Auburns, and putting a vow of silence upon their lips, consigns them to the Tombs. The question now presses upon us and demands solution—that solution your Committee respectfully submit, taking into view all the circumstances which surround us, is the establishment of a Penitentiary, with such changes in our criminal code as may be found necessary.

For the great mass of offences under capital felonies, our present punishment is whipping and imprisonment. It is needless to reason upon the inefficiency of whipping as a punishment for a large part of our population, now amounting to one-third of the whole; that part, too, the most prone to crime. Our lately emancipated blacks will feel the lash as a smart wound; but they do not yet, and will not for a long time, if ever, feel it as a stain. From its probable frequency in the future, as well as its short physical pain to those upon whom it will be chiefly administered, without any civil disabilities whatever, it is likely to lose its efficacy as a public punishment. Its utter inefficiency, on all classes, is clearly demonstrated in the crime of horse stealing, which has caused many, in a season of exasperation, to favor the infliction of the death penalty for that offence. It is not pretended by the advocates of this change in our criminal code, that the crime of horse stealing is more heinous now than it was six years ago, but that some change is demanded by its frequency, as a preventive. That the prevention of crme is one of the ends of punishment is freely conceded, but that it is the sole end, will scarcely be maintained by any one who has reflected deeply upon the question, or analyzed carefully the operations of his own mind.

It the prevention of crime be the only lawful end of penal sanctions, then the efficacy of any proposed penalty as a restraint upon the perpetration of offences, is the test of our right to inflict it. It is right, under this view of the case, to fine a man, imprison or hang him, if we have sufficient reason to believe that we may thereby produce a certain amount of good to the community, in the restraint imposed upon the commission of crime. Let us suppose, then, that the infliction of this doom, whatever it may be, upon an innocent man would prevent an equal amount of crime, would it be right, to lay it upon him? Could it be certainly known that the hanging of some man, whose hands are pure from crime, would prevent all furture murders down to the end of time, would it be right to lay it upon him? What right have we to take any man and torture him, merely for the sake of doing good to others? Under this view, the convicted horse thief is told, "you are to be hung, not because you stole a horse, but that horses may not be stolen." What right have we to catch a man and hang him up, because we have reason to believe that he will prove a scare-crow to frighten other men from mischief? We can have no right, except that which this theory leaves entirely out of view, the instrinsic ill-desert of the offender. The foundation of human punishments can never be laid, by any just principles, of reasoning, in their tendency to benefit society. This attempt to found justice upon utility, is only another effort of a material philosophy to solve a problem which lies as high above its reach, as the heavens are high above the earth. The idea of law in every human mind, ignorant or instructed, is an immediate derivative from the idea of duty; and this again arises out of the primary conception which all men form of the essential distinction between right and wrong. These ideas are the product of the reason and the conscience. They are primitive, necessary and absolute. That the criminal should be punished for his crime, is not a truth summed up from the tardy teachings of experience; it is an immediate and peremptory decision of the moral sense. Whether punishment is useful to society or not, is altogether a different question, and to be decided upon different grounds. The positive penal laws by which we punish crimes, that trespass upon the rights of men and violate social order have their origin, in that sense of justice which is one of the spontaneous products of human reason. No social compact could ever give this right, no considerations of utility could ever establish it, if the ground were not laid for it in the moral nature of man. There can be no doubt but that it is useful to society to punish offences which invade its peace and order, and that the consideration of this utility is real and weighty. But this consideration is subordinate to the primitive idea which constitutes the true basis of penalty. Let us suppose that this primitive idea is removed, that there is no law of the human mind by which it pronounces upon the essential demerit of crime, and demands that its decision shall be realized in every well ordered society, and what becomes of our right to seize upon a man and subject him to disgrace and suffering, because his tortures will be an edifying spectacle to others? No exigency of local or State affairs, no extremity of public necessity, no amount of good to be produced, can ever make such an intrusion upon the sacred rights which belong to every man, anything else than an unauthorized and atrocious exercise of power. Nothing but guilt can break down the defences which stand around every moral being, and permit us to subject him to suffering for the advantage of others. It is from this prior consideration of justice that the penalties of law derive their utility. It is because the community feel that the criminal deserves to suffer, that the example of his punishment is rendered powerful in restraining others from crime, beyond the efficacy which fear alone would possess. And unless the community could be made to feel that the man who steals a horse is guilty of as great an outrage, of as atrocious a crime, as he who takes the life of a fellow-being with malice aforethought, jurors would not be found to execute the death penalty, if it were annexed. Punishment is not just because it is useful; but it is useful because it is just.

As to imprisonment, it is manifestly a grievance too intolerable to be borne by the several counties of the State; many, if not all of them overburdened with debt and impoverished by the immense losses of the war. It has no terrors for the criminal; is unproductive, and affords a school by the crowding of offenders together without restraint, for graduation in villiany and crime. We consider also, that the repression of crime by its prompt punishment is of moment, not merely to neighborhoods and districts. It is of public concern. It involves the character of the whole State. To throw, therefore, the expense of maintaining idle offenders upon the particular localities where they may happen to commit their crimes, is more than burdensome. It is unjustly and unequally burdensome.

We place the claims of a Penitentiary upon the two-fold ground, that if not positively cheaper than unproductive imprisonment, which we believe it would prove to be, it is not at least relatively so by imposing upon all a burden, which is now borne by a part only; and that it would be a more certain and effectual preventive of crime than either or both of our usual methods of punishment for offences under capital felonies. We believe, however, that it would be positively cheaper. Similar institutions in other States, have earned more than the cost of keeping them up. The Georgia Penitentiary, the only one of which we have any recent information, shows assets over indebtedness of over thirteen thousand dollars for the past year. We can see no reason, why, under proper management, a similar result should not be attained here. There is scarcely a State in the Union but has established a Penitentiary, and none of them, so far as your committee is informed, has ever abolished them on the score of economy, or for any other cause. Indeed, so far as relates to the reformation of the offender, which, without any mawkish sympathy may well be considered by legislators in seeking the well being of the community, the benign effects of labor and silence on the criminal, compared with the idleness and unrestricted intercourse of the common jails, afford the strongest grounds of preference for the former. He leaves the Penitentiary with habits of industry, and a trade by which he is able to make an honest living. We are aware that the labor performed by the convicts is alleged to compete improperly with that of mechanics, and to be at war with their interests. If the mechanic had nothing at stake in the good order and peace of society, the objection might have some force. Still it would rest on rather slender foundations in a community which buys everything wrought by the hand of a mechanician, from a steam engine to an axe handle, beyond its borders.

This report has reached a greater length than was intended, leaving still other and weighty considerations unpresented, which will doubtless suggest themselves to the collective wisdom of the General Assembly.

In concluding, your committee would entreat those whose motto is, "stare super vias antiquas,"—those who are so protoundly convinced of the virtues of the whipping post, and those universities of crime, the county jails, (not to mention gallows, which are not always used even in homicidal felonies,) to consider that we do not to-day dwell in the social organism into which we and our fathers were born; that there has been a deluge; that we stand amid the wreck and chaos which it has created, and whether, as wise men, discerning aright the inexorable logic of events, it does not behoove us to realize the change.

Respectfully submitted,

J. M. HUTCHISON,
Chairman.

REMARKS
OF MR. BERRY, OF ORANGE,
On the Homestead Bill, in the Senate on the 12th instant.

Mr. Speaker:—The bill now under consideration, slightly modified, is the same which was favorably acted upon by the Judiciary committee of the House of Commons of the last Legislature. You Mr. Speaker, was Chairman of that committee, and submitted a report favorable to the passage of the bill, and when I introduced it in this House and had it referred to the Judiciary committee, I was greatly desirous that the bill would recieve its favorable consideration. In this I have been disappointed; but I believe if Senators will give the bill the consideration its importance entitles it to, they will pass it, and with the concurrence of the House, it will become the law of the State.

I am satisfied, Mr. Speaker, after having given the bill much consideration, that there will be no proposition submitted to the action of this body of more vital importance to the State and the people than the bill now under consideration. Sir, what constitutes the wealth of a State, is it its fertile soils, its mineral resources, its navigable waters, its magnificent forests and ever delightful climate?

These are elements of wealth, but without the plastic touch of man, they remain as unprofitable to the State, and the world, as the unknown wealth of the ocean's depths. Sir, the population of a State constitutes its wealth. It is muscle and sinew and brains, that subdue the forests, clothes the hills and valleys in smiling plenty, disembowels from earth her hidden treasure, and fills the land with the hum of human industry.

Mr. Speaker, North Carolina is near a century old, with an area of territory of nearly fifty thousand square miles, and what, sir, is her white population to-day? about twelve to the square mile. What has become of the population of this great State? For the last ninety years it has been transported to the great valley of the Mississippi, from the lakes to the Gulf of Mexico, and over the vast plains of Texas, in close proximity, on hillsides and plains, the smoke rising from tenements inhabited by North Carolinians.

Mr. Speaker, for the last thirty years it has been argued, that to arrest the tide of emigration setting to the west, we must build manufactories, improve the navigation of our harbors and rivers, build railroads, and extract from our rich mines the treasures they contain. We, to the extent of our ability, have done all this, and has it arrested emigration? I refer you to the census tables; go back to 1830 or to 1840, the first decade, and the increase of population was sixty nine per cent., 281,000. From 1840 to 1850 the increase of population fell to fifteen per cent. the next decade. From 1850 to 1860 the increase was still less, only 13 per cent. We commenced our system of Internal Improvement about 1840; so you perceive, Senators, that our wealth is departing instead of increasing, and the argument fails; and we must adopt some other system of legislation if we expect to arrest this drain of the State's wealth. Mr. Speaker, when I was a boy, some fifty years ago, to pull up stakes and move to the West was a big undertaking, and required months to accomplish it, and only the wealthy could move, and they had no good cause for moving. It is the industrious and energetic poor men that is the bone and sinew of the land, and their emigrant trains can in a few days transport them and their families to the distant West, at a small cost, and they are availing themselves of these facilities to an alarming extent. And now the question presents itself to Senators, how is this great drain upon the wealth of the State to be arrested? Senators the question propounded requires your serious consideration. As the representatives of the people, you are placed in a responsible position; after much reflection on the subject, I have come to the conclusion to pass the bill now under consideration is the most plausible remedy it not the only one. It may be argued that it is late in the day to be moving in this matter, but there is an old Roman maxim, "that it is never too late to do good." Let us act on this maxim and make the experiment. This policy has been discussed in the Legislature for the last forty years and been defeated. Time and again the lamented Faison, from Sampson laboured in this noble work, and if his noble spirit could visit this chamber he would rejoice in our efforts to accomplish what he had laboured in vain to do. Let us make another trial Senators and never cease our efforts till the great object is accomplished. Let us be liberal and generous to the unfortunate portion of our population, and set apart something that is real and permanent, that cannot be reached by execution. Do this and you will inspire them with energy to improve the homestead you have secured to their families for all time to come. As faithful guardians of the interest of North Carolina, it is pre-eminently our duty to foster in the bosoms of her sons, that noblest of human sentiments, the love of the old homestead, where repose the ashes of our ancestors, in this distressing crisis of our State's history, when all is dark, and gloomy, and uncertain. Let us do all that we can to inspire our people with hope, and give them assurance, that North Carolina is as generous, and tender of the interest of her children, as any State upon God's green earth. Pass this bill and thousands will call you blessed. The tide of emigration will cease to a great extent, and a reflux of wealth and population will take place. We must compete with the Western States in giving our people the same security that the citizens of those States enjoy in regard to homesteads. The States of Mississippi and Louisiana provide most liberally for the female portion of their poplation, and Texas has ingrafted in her organic law a homestead of 200 acres of land, and secures to the wife her whole property, both real and personal, and all that may be left to her by friends; offer these inducements to our people and we will have the most happy results. Instead of deserted cabins and tenements which now mark the way of the traveler, there will be neat cottages, improved lands and an industrious, happy and prosperous population which can alone enrich the State.

There is an amendment proposed to this bill, which, if adopted, will prove most disastrous: it is to limit the value, this feature was engrafted in the homestead bill that was passed in 1858, which from this cause, has remained a dead letter on our statute books. There is not an individual in my knowledge that has availed himself of the benefits offered in this law, and if we engraft this feature in the bill now under consideration, the same objections will produce the same effects. To hope, Mr. Speaker, that the original bill will pass and that the generous provisions in it will arrest the tide of emigration, and that the old North State will increase in population and wealth. And as soon as our population increases, our resources will increase, and our State credit will revive, and as soon as that takes place, we can enter into those grand schemes of internal improvement, and accomplish all that the most ardent friend of internal improvement desires.

Mr. Speaker, if the features that are engrafted in this bill had been engrafted in the organic law of the State established at Halifax in 1776, to-day our white population would have been at least two millions, instead of six hundred and thirty-two thousand, and our resources would have been increased four fold in population and wealth.

The bill occasioned a lenghty debate. Mr. Wilson was in favor of the principle but opposed it upon the ground that it was in antagonism with the organic law of the State.—Mr. Leach supported the bill in a lengthy speech, contending that the Legislature had the power to pass it and it was not in opposition either to the organic law of the State or United States. Mr. Hall supported the bill, futher urging the right to pass it.

THE SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, SEATON GALES. Editors.

Saturday Evening, Dec. 15, 1866.

Tennessee Legislature.

It is due to this body to state, that while many of its acts reflect severely upon the liberality of that Legislature towards many of the best citizens of the State, that it has exhibited a very commendable liberality in State improvements. How that body obtained the control of a sufficient amount of funds to be liberal when all the other Southern States are oppressed with pecuniary difficulties, perhaps, it is needless now to enquire, but they are certainly showing the right spirit.

Recently, it has passed bills appropriating $500,000 to the Cincinnati, Cumberland Gap and Charleston R. R., $300,000 to the Knoxville and Charleston R. R., $150,000 to the East Tennessee and Western N. C. R. R., besides others, amounting to $2,000,000. The Cincinnati, Cumberland Gap and Charleston R. R. for which the $500,000 appropriation is made, is designed to meet the French Broad branch of the N. C. Western Rail Road at Paint Rock, 42 miles below Asheville. The amount is thought to be amply sufficient to complete and equip the Road to that point, and it will be done by the first of January 1868. Will not the North Carolina Legislature meet the Tennessee Legislature in the same spirit of liberality as far as it is able, by passing the bill before it to extend the N. C. Western R. R? We hope so. It will not do to sit down and repine at our condition. Nor will it do to wait till we see what the Congress will do with us. Our material interests must be promoted, whatever becomes of our political future. Every interest in the future demands that we shall help ourselves.

The Penitentiary.

We publish to-day, the able and eloquent report of Mr. Hutchison, of Mecklenburg, Chairman of the Joint Committee on the Penitentiary. Our readers will be interested in its perusal.

We are sure that a careful consideration of the arguments in favor of this measure, must force the conviction of its necessity upon our people. The only forcible argument against a Penitentiary in this State at an early day, is the want of money. But the provisions of the bill most clearly show, that it can and will be constructed at a very small cost to the State.

One point only, have we space to suggest.—Our Northern brethren years ago, set out with the determination to manage our internal affairs for us. They are now aiming to reform our morals and our laws. Their ingenuity and their malice have found the means of accomplishing their designs, somewhat. They are reformers, and our whipping-posts and pillories, and branding, &c., will be made soon sources of political contest with us. Better, where it can be done with honor and safety to ourselves, check-mate and prevent discord upon these issues, by building a Penitentiary, and thus prevent further conflict.

DENIED.—The Standard denies that Messrs. Harris, of Rutherford, and Jenkins, of Gaston, made the impression that when they left here, they were going home. We made the statement as a rumor without endorsing its correctness, and they are entitled to the denial. We know that many were under the impression they had gone home on business. How that impression was made, we cannot say. But the Standard says, they went openly, paid their own expenses &c. We never said aught to the contrary. But the point we did make was this, we regretted to be forced to believe that in going to Washington for the purpose of aiding in the destruction of the present State government, and the reduction of the State to a territory, they violated their obligations to their constituency and their same obligations to the State. At least this is the view that our conviction of duty and ideas of moral obligation, force upon us.

STATE GEOLOGIST.—We learn that Prof. Kerr, the State Geologist, has arrived in the city, after a most laborious and valuable exploration of many of our Western Counties. This trip has served to develop much of the mineral wealth of the West, of which Prof. Kerr has brought with him about 500 specimens. We learn that he found in Cherokee County, most beautiful white marble, of a very superior quality, and a quantity of beautiful flesh-colored marble, superior to anything of the kind he has ever seen. We hope Mr. Kerr will, in the form of free lectures, during the next week, give the Legislature and the public the result of his researches.

MESSRS. EDITORS.—Has there been no provision made for the publication of the Lecture of Hon. Z. B. Vance, in the Commons Hall recently? No doubt many of the members of the Legislature would like to take copies of that admirable lecture home with them. G.

We agree with our correspondent that its publication is very desirable, but the impression prevailed that the distinguished author would be called upon to repeat the Lecture at various points in the State, and that, therefore, he would not consent to its publication, at least, until some time hence.

CRAVEN COUNTY COURT.—This Court was in session the present week in Newbern. A colored man was tried and convicted of larceny and sentenced to be whipped according to law, when the process was prevented by the interference of the military who forbid the infliction of the punishment in obedience to the order of Gen. Sickles.

The Henderson Index acknowledges the receipt of a large turnip raised in Granville, which measured 33 inches in circumference.—It was grown upon the plantation of Mr. Arch. Davis. That's some turnip neighbor.

The Memorial Fair.

The Memorial Fair, last night, at the Yarborough House, was a decided success. The large Hall was thronged. The ladies request us to say, that the Fair Rooms, of the Memorial Association, will again be opned at the Yarborough House, between the hours of 7 and 12, P. M.

There will be many raffles for some very handsome cakes, books, dolls and other articles of like character. A beautiful quilt. Five colored photographs, on ivory, of Hon. Jefferson Davis, Gens. Lee, Jackson, Beauregard, Johnston and other Generals will be raffled. Also the Christmas tree.

GEN. COLSTON'S LECTURE.—We make the announcement in another column that Gen. Colston will deliver his Lecture on Stonewall Jackson, in the Commons Hall on Monday night next. We have seen the highest eulogiums pronounced upon this Lecture. It is said to be one of rare merit.

We are requested to announce that ELI JONES and wife, ministers in the society of Friends, will preach in the Commons Hall tomorrow (Sunday) afternoon, at 3 o'clock.

DR. W. R. HOLT'S SALE.—We were present, on Tuesday and Wednesday last, at Dr. W. R. Holt's sale. Quite a large number was present. We suppose, some five or six hundred persons esch day. We did not stay until the sale closed, but sufficient was sold on the two first days, to enable us to judge pretty well what the property would bring.

The plantations, which were, perhaps, among the best in Davidson County, were not all sold when we left, but what were sold, on six and twelve months time, brought from seventeen and an half to thirty-five dollars per acre. The stock which was of the finest bloods, sold comparatively low, with the exception of the mules which brought their full value. The beautiful grey stallion, Medley, was bid off by Dr. Meares, at $300. The fine milk cows brought from $25 to $45. Farming implements of which there was an unusually large variety of various patents, sold very low. There was no grain sold during our stay. Taking altogether, there was a bad average, and the property was disposed of at a sacrifice. This however, will be observable in all such cases, during the existence of the present scarcity of money. Those who are forced to put up their property to the highest bidder in these tight times are generally ruined, and they become a prey to their more exacting neighbors, through a sacrifice of their property.

Sharpers, and those few who are so fortunate as to be able to demand a few dollars, are daily buying themselves rich at the expense of the large majority of the less fortunate, less exacting, but more industrious people. These things are so, and the regret is that there seems to be no remedy for them.—Sal. Banner.

The Pioneer says that some of the people of Western Carolina are looking to the formation of a new State, by uniting with East Tennessee.

Congress.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.

Mr. Shelleberger's territorializing petition was referred to the committee on the New Orleans riots.

Mr. Delano offered a bill authorizing the Treasurer to pay over to Lawson & Co. New York sixty thousand dollars lost on the steamer Republic, en route for New Orleans. There was spirited opposition against establishing a precedent, but it passed by a vote of 76 to 67.

The franchise bill was taken up, the previous question moved and passed by 117 to 46.

Mr. Julian's bill for fixing civil governments in districts lately in revolt against the United States and for the restoration of the said districts to their forfeited rights as States in the Union is in substance as follows:

Whereas the people of the districts lately in revolt against the United States by their act of treason and rebellion against the same have no civil government within their borders, and have no power to restore such government without the intervention of Congress. Whereas the governments inaugurated in said districts by the President are defacto and provisional only, having no validity whatever save in the continual acquiescence of Congress. And whereas the restoration of civil government in said districts on just principle, and by authority of the nation, is imperatively demanded, by the lawless disposition of their people and the best interests of the whole country:

Therefore, section one, provides that North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas and Virginia, be and are hereby erected into temporary and territorial governments, under the names by which they have heretofore been known as States.

Section two, vests the Executive power in each of the territories in a Governor who shall hold office—years, and until his successor is appointed and qualified, unless sooner removed by the President. The Governors of said territories to reside within the boundaries of the same, be Commander of the militia thereof and exercise generally all the powers of Governors of territories, including the pardoning and veto powers.

Section third, provides for the appointment of a secretary for each of the said territories with the usual dates and authority.

Section fourth provides that the legislative power shall consist of the Governer and Legislative Assembly. To consist of Senate and House of Representatives. The members of which are to possess the qualifications prescribed for voters previous to the first election. The Governer shall cause a census of the inhabitants to be made, fix time and places for election of Legislative Assembly, to meet within ninety days after the first election.

Section five, provides that Senators and representatives should be elected by loyal male citizens of the United States over twenty-one and residents of the county, parish, township or ward in which they offer to vote. Who shall take the oath of allegiance prescribed by Congress July 2, 1862, but no person who has held or exercised any office civil or military in the State or Confederate Government, under rebel usurpation, or who has voluntarily borne arms against the the United States, shall vote or to be eligible to be elected at such election.

Section six, authorizes the Governor, by the advice of the Territorial Legislature, to appoint all officers of the Territory not provided for in this bill, and until the election of such Legislature, to make such appointments by himself.

Section seven, provides Courts and Judicial machinery for the Territories.

Section eight, provides for the appointment of Attorneys and Marshals.

Section nine, directs that the Governor, Associate Justices, the Attorney and Marshal of each of these Territories shall be nominated, and by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, appointed by the President.

Section ten, authorizes the seats of Government to be fixed by the Legislatures, and provides for the election of a delegate to the House of Representatives of the United States, from each Territory, by the voters qualified to vote for Legislators.

Section eleven, provides that the Constitution and laws of the United States, shall have the same force and effect in these Territories as elsewhere in the United States.

Section twelve, authorizes the people of the said territories to form for themselves State governments, under the names which they bore before the rebellion, which are to be admitted equal with other States in the Union.

Section thirteen, prescribes the qualifications for voters for Legislators are made the qualifications for voters for the State Convention.—Citizens of the Territories enlisted in the Military or Naval service of the United States, are authorized to vote at the place of service.

Section fourteen provides for the meeting and mode of conducting the State Convention.

Our Afternoon Dispatches.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.

In the Senate there was a spirited coloquy on the word "white," in the Nebraska Constitution.

Mr. Sherman said that he would not go behind the enabling act. They had authorized the white people and it would be unwise to violate the agreement. He added, that to the deliberate proposition made to the Southern States last session, it was a very grave and serious proposition. If the Southern States accepted it the proposition should be carried out, he did not dream of refusing admittance.—However, the amendment disappoints some Senators. The people would hail its adoption as the most joyful thing since Lee's surrender. It grieved the President that the Southern States were unwilling to accept it, but things would change.

Mr. Sumner denied the finality of the amendment. The issue made by Mr. Sherman is considered very important here.

The committees are hard at work this morning but nothing has transpired.

A party of Congressmen, Senators and newspaper men, have accepted an invitation to visit New Orleans during the holidays over the through road, by the Grand Junction.

A New and Grand Epoch in Medicine!

DR. MAGGIEL is the founder of a new Medical System! The quantitarians, whose vast internal doses enfeeble the stomach and paralyze the bowels, must give precedence to the man who restores health and appetite, with from one to two of his extraordinary Pills, and cures the most virulent sores with a box or so of his wonderful and all healing Salve. These two great specifics of the Doctor are fast superseding all the stereotyped nostrums of the day. Extraordinary cures by Maggiel's Pills and Salve have opened the eyes of the public to the inefficiency of the (so-called) remedies of others, and upon which people have so long blindly depended. Maggil's Pills are not of the class that are swallowed by the dozen, and of which every box full taken creates an absolute necessity for another. One or two of Maggiel's Pills suffices to place the bowels in perfect order, tone the stomach, create an appetite, and render the spirits light and buoyant! There is no griping, and no reaction in the form of constipation. If the liver is affected, its functions are restored; and if the nervous system is feeble, it is invigorated. This last quality makes the medicines very desirable for the wants of delicate females. Ulcerous and eruptive diseases are literally extinguished by the disinfectant power of Maggiel's Salve. In fact, it is announced that Maggiel's Billious, Dyspeptic and Diarrhœa Pills cure where all others fail. While for Burns, Scalds, Chilblains, Cuts and all abrasions of the skin, Maggiel's Salve is infallible. Sold by J. MAGGIEL, 11 Pine St., New York, and all Druggists, at 25 cts. per box.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

The Louisville Journal says: "The testimonials which Dr. Gardner presents to the public could never have been obtained, except by the display of great skill and learning in his profession. One thing especially commendable in the Doctor's practice is, that he will not attempt an incurable disease for the sake of a fee, but frankly tells the patient whether he can be cured or not. We cheerfully recommend Dr. Gardner to the attention of all our friends who may be suffering from diseases of the eye or ear.

The Richmond Times says: We have no hesitation in saying that Dr. Gardner is the most scientific and successful eye and ear Surgeon in this country.

"We feel justified in recommending Doctor Gardner to those suffering from diseases of the eye and ear."—Richmond Whig.

"We can safely and cordially recommend Dr. Gardner, who will fulfill all he undertakes to perform."—Baltimore Clipper.

The New Orleans True Delta says: "We can safely recommend Dr. Gardner as a successful operator on the eye and ear. He will not undertake to treat a case unless a cure can be effected.

The Wheeling Register says: "Dr. Gardner is one of the most successful Oculists and Aurists in the country. We advise those suffering from the diseases of the eye and ear to consult him."

A New Era In Medicine

☞ Let the Suffering and Diseased read the following.

☞ Let all who have been given up by Doctor and spoken of as incurable, read the following.

☞ Let all who can believe facts and can have faith in evidence, read the following:

Know all men by these presents, That on this, the Twentieth day of June, in the year of our Lord, One Thousand Eight Hundred and Sixty-Six, personally came Joseph Haydock to me, known as such, and being duly sworn, deposed as follows: That he is the sole general agent for the United States, and dependencies thereof, for preparations or medicines known as MAGGIEL'S PILLS and SALVE, and that the following certificates are verbatim copies to the best of his knowledge and belief.

JAMES SMEITER,
L. S. Notary Public,
Wall Street, New York.
June 1, 1866.

DR. MAGGIEL:—I take my pen to write you of my great relief and that the awful pain in my side has left me at last—thanks to your medicine. Oh, doctor, how thankful I am that I can get some sleep. I can never write it enough. I thank you again and again, and am sure that you are really the friend of all sufferers. I could not help writing to you, and hope you will not take it amiss.

JAMES MYERS,
116 Avenue D.

This is to certify that I was discharged from the army with Chronic Diarrhœa, and have been cured by Dr. Maggiel's Pills.

WILSON HARVEY,
New York, April 7, 1865. 27 Pitt Street.

The following is an interesting case of a man employed in an Iron Foundry, who, in pouring melted iron into a flask that was damp and wet, caused an explosion. The melted iron was thrown around and on him in a perfect shower, and he was burnt dreadfully. The following certificate was given to me by him about eight weeks after the accident.

New York, Jan. 11, 1866.

My name is Jacob Hardy; I am an Iron Founder; I was badly burnt by hot iron in November last; my burns healed, but I had a running sore on my leg that would not heal; I tried Maggiel's Salve, and it cured me in a few weeks. This is all true, and any body can now see me at Jackson's Iron Works, 2nd Avenue.

J. HARDY,
119 Geerick Street.

Extract from Various Letters:

"I had no appetite; Maggiel's Pills gave me a hearty one."

"Your Pills are marvelous."

"I send for another box, and keep them in the house."

"Dr. Maggiel has cured my headache that was chronic."

"I gave half of one of your pills to my babe for cholera morbus. The dear little thing got well in a day."

"My nausea of a morning is now cured."

"Your box of Maggiel's Salve cured me of noises in the head. I rubbed some of your Salve behind my ears and the noise left."

"Send me two boxes; I want one for a poor family."

"I enclose a dollar; your price is twenty-five cents, but the medicine to me is worth a dollar."

"Send me five boxes of your pills."

"Let me have three boxes of your Salve by return mail."

I have over 200 such Testimonals

As this, but want of space compels me to conclude
J. MAGGIEL, M. D.

P. F. PESCUD AGENT FOR RALEIGH, FOR MAGGIEL'S PILLS AND SALVE.

By this practical illustration of the advantages of Life Insurance, it is commended to the confidence and support of every one desirous of providing for surviving loved ones.

As an investment merely, a Life Insurance Policy is as safe an investment of funds as can be made.—The principal, generally, is not only many times in excess of the amount paid, but in a sound company it has no rival for security, and no species of Government bonds are a more desirable investment.

Alston, deceased, by virtue of the power conferred on him by his Testator, will offer for sale at ARCOLA, in said County, the following Tracts of Land, to-wit: One tract containing about 425 acres, adjoining the HOUSE tract on the East side, and that of Judge Asa Biggs on the North, which tract has on it a small branch-mill, and some improvements, to wit: A half dozen first class negro Cabins, Corn Cribs, &c., and is in fine condition for a crop next year, for eight or ten hands.

One other tract adjacent to the Grove Hill and Arcola road, adjoining the last mentioned tract on the Northeast, and containing about 800 acres. This tract has no improvements and no cleared land, but is in original growth, well timbered and watered, and is one of the best tracts in Warren County.
